

Welcome to the Quintiles Graduate Program

We are actively seeking enthusiastic graduates to join us on the Quintiles Graduate Program and become a Clinical Research Associate – Graduate. This is an exciting time to join Quintiles as we continue to expand and grow as an organisation.

Quintiles is the world's largest provider of biopharmaceutical development and commercial outsourcing services. We bring a fully integrated approach to biopharma and life sciences solutions – from pipeline through portfolio to population health™. A career with Quintiles connects you to great opportunity to achieve professional success and impact healthcare around the world.

The benefits of the program

The Graduate Program features a bespoke training and development plan to provide you with the best start to your career at Quintiles, including Good Clinical Practise (GCP) and appropriate therapeutic, protocol and clinical research training which will help you perform at your best.

In addition to the training and development plan, we offer a mentor scheme for all our graduates. By participating, you will receive guidance and support from a mentor within the business as your career progresses.

Our focused approach to performance and career management also means that you will have regular meetings with your line manager throughout the year to keep your goals and career aspirations in clear view.

How your journey happens

The Graduate Program begins with a 5-week intensive residential program based in Ireland. The goal is to provide you with the foundational skills and technical training required for success in the role of a Clinical Research Associate – Graduate. Following the successful completion of residential training, you will begin your transition into the business and be accountable for your work on real projects.

If you like the sound of making a real impact on the healthcare/pharmaceutical industry, and you have obtained your degree in 2015 or will obtain it in 2016, then apply for our Graduate Program today!
